

Design choices:

- For the visualization of the happy planet index I have chosen a coloured map because this way people can easily find a country they want information on.
- The colour of each country is scaled with the happy planet index value so you can easily see which countries are happier or unhappier.
- To visualize the amount of happy years a pie chart is used, because it is easy to see fractions in a pie chart.